How Western shipowners are profiting from the rise of Putin's shadow fleet

Analysis of ship loadings at Russian port highlights the scale of the sale-and-purchase boom in ageing tankers

12 September 2024 9:26 GMT UPDATED 18 September 2024 18:09 GMT

By Paul Peachey in London

The snapshot study — based solely on activity at one port in one month — showed that Greece's Delta Tankers was the most active seller, disposing of three tankers that ended up loading oil from Primorsk in August.

VesselsValue data shows the three were sold in December 2022 to Radiating World Shipping Services, a Dubai-based company hit by UK sanctions the following year.

The 111,000-dwt trio Azure Celeste (ex-Delta Sailor), Kudos Stars (ex-Delta Captain, both built 2005) and Andaman Skies (ex-Delta Pioneer, built 2004) are now operated by Dubai-based companies and have specialised in hauling Russian crude since the sale.

In a major escalation of its sanctions against Russia's covert seaborne oil exports, the United Kingdom today announced its most significant package to date targeting Putin's shadow fleet of oil tankers.

Eighteen additional vessels have been barred from UK ports and denied access to the country's maritime services, bringing the total number of sanctioned oil tankers to 43.

The tankers sanctioned today include:
